PRESS RELEASE

The Fiji Chamber of Commerce and Industry welcomes the facilitative and accommodative manner in which the MOH and MCTTT have moved to open up the economy despite the number of rising cases of COVID-19.

There is a list of protocols for business to implement and adhere to in order to achieve a COVID-19 safe business operating environment. The protocols and guidelines are now available and online applications for approvals are open through MCTTT.

Businesses can now begin to operate and bring back employment and livelihoods for a number of people who were becoming very distressed with the lockdown and with little to no income in a lot of cases.

FCCI encourages businesses to take up the offer to open up and put in their applications for approval by MCTTT.

We ask that businesses are mindful of the very difficult predicament and indeed very difficult decision that has been made and consider that we all have a role to play in bringing employment and livelihoods back on track.

Given the tough situation FCCI believes this is a realistic way to create a positive impact on moving the economy back into motion.
